

Hallers Army Recruitment Record Database of Northeast Pennsylvania

The Polish Army in France (Armia Polska we Francji) commonly, known as Haller's Army (Armia Hallera), in recognition of their commanding general, Józef do Hallenburg Haller, as well as the Blue Army (Błękitna Armia), named for their French-issued blue uniforms, was all volunteer army recruited from 47 centers and Camp Niagara in the United States and Canada. This fighting force was comprised predominantly of Polish nationals who volunteered to fight in France towards the last year of World War I.

Northeastern Pennsylvania had 4 recruiting centers: Wilkes-Barre (1,077 recruits) operated from October 1917 to February 1919, Scranton (135 recruits) operated from November 1917 to June 1918, Mt. Carmel (47 recruits) operated from November 1917 to June 1918 and Reading (57 recruits) November 1917 to November 1918. NEPGS receives many inquiries on how to obtain recruitment records.

NEPGS volunteers have extracted from FEEFHS The Federation of East European Family History Societies roster of over 20,000 individuals, the names of the volunteers who were recruited at the 4 Northeastern Pennsylvania recruiting centers. The roster is compiled in this manner: Towns in which the recruit lived at the time of enlistment are in alphabetical order with the county name in parenthesis.

Most of the recruitment papers for these persons are preserved in the archives of the Polish Museum of America. The recruitment papers for an individual usually consist of a set of three forms, A, B, and C.

- Form A: is an intention to volunteer and contains the name, address, age, and marital status.
- Form B: is a medical examination report for the volunteer.
- Form C: The most genealogically significant information appears on Form C. It includes date and place of birth and usually the name and address of a parent or other close relative.

The index is arranged alphabetically by name so that you can easily find persons of interest. The city and state give the place the person was from when volunteering. This is helpful to narrow the choices if the person of interest has a common name. The last column is labelled "Form" but serves as a location code. It describes which record group the information will be found in.

There are three groups, A, C, and L. Group A is a collection of form A papers described above. Group C is a collection of form C papers. Each of these collections are bound into volumes. To locate the record, the page number, volume, and record group must be provided. Group L is a collection of loose papers. The page column of the index tells you which forms you can expect to find among the loose papers. A single individual might appear in the index three times- having paperwork in each collection.
